HUSBAND AND WIPE EAT IN SEPARATE DINING-ROOMS.

Why Mr. Grissedisch's Furchase of a Present for His Daughter Tony Excited His Wife's Jealousy-The Amount Mr. Griesedieck Settled on His Wife After the Separation-Some Very Spicy Testimony.

The parties interested in the Griesedleck livorce case began to assemble in Judge 'ithrow's court this morning as early as 9:30 clock, and before court opened at 10 o'clock as lobby was well filled with spectators, mong whom were many Germans. Mrs. dieck came early and was accom-by her half-grown son and daughter. he is a large woman of middle age and ustere aspect and wore a black silk dress and small bonnet, with only a trace of purple ing. There were signs of tears on her notwithstanding her haughty bearing, and her conversation with friends who came in from time to time while she was waiting the proceedings to begin was earnes and even energetic.

G. A. Finkelnberg appears for the plaintiff, Antone Griesedieck, the wealthy brewer, and Charles Nagle and Judge Lubke for the

MR. GRIESEDIECK RECALLED. The trial was taken up at the point where Mr. Griesedieck, who had been examined in support of his allegations that his wife was of such a violent temper that she made life a old brewery to a syndicate for $700,000. Mr. k was recalled and cross-examined by Judge Lubke about the trip back from

"Did you occupy the same room with your wife the night after your arrival, when you had the quarrel about the diamonds?"

"Yes, I couldn't help myself."

Judge Lubke then directed the examination to matters which occurred after the party returned to St. Louis, and asked the witness about his having left his home when his son Frank was very ill last December. He stayed away and has not been living at their home since Dec. 6, 1892.

"How much money did you allow your wife while you were away?"

"I sent her 5150 a month."

"Now Mr. Griesedieck, how long is it since you and your wife had separate dining-rooms at your house?"

"Ever since the house was built. We had two dining-rooms made then."

"Didn't your wife eat with the servants while you were in the dining-room by your. self?"

"If she did I didn't how."

"If she did I didn't know it. I got up in morning and went into the dining-room reakfast. Nobody came to join me, and the alone. I didn't go down stairs to see if a was with the servants."

Questioned about the defendant's allega-ions in her cross-complaint the witness tes-ified that he never did take his wife by the roat and he never thrust her from him sinst a bookcase nor drag her out into the il. The only time that he lost control of meelf was when he threw beer mugs at his fe. One of the glasses struck the marble be of the sideboard and broke. His wife

"Yes, they were all making such a noise and calling me things that I threw a mug up a steps. It struck about seven steps up ad broks. It didn't so near her."
"Didn't you say once that you wished all her children were dead?"
"No, sir." exclaimed the witness, "I wer said such a thing. Whether they were rehidren by her first husband or not I re them all the same."

go out much in society she could have goue if she wanted. She had horses and vehicles at her disposal.

Mr. Finkelnberg asked if Mrs. Griesedieck had ever objected to his building another brewery because he was under contract with the syndicate to which he had sold out not to enter the brewery business again.

"She did not object on that ground. My sons wanted to build a brewery and asked me to help them. I mean my sons by my first wife. She objected to that because the benefit would come to my children and not to hers. If Frank had been interested in the plan she would have offered no objection." The winess testified that he had made several ineffectual attempts to bring about a reconciliation of the family. He wanted to bring two of his daughters home from Germany in order to unite the family circle, but his wife said that if helprought Tony homeshe would never enter the house again. He made another attempt et the Hot Springs and several times in this city. He once wrote a let-

of that he got a letter that was "quite different."

He had taken his wife to Europe three times within the past four years and had taken her with him to the Wisite Mountains and even when he went on business trips.

Returning to the time when the plaintiff left his own house, Mr. Finkelnberg said: "What were the causes that led to your leaving home?" "My daughter Bertha told me," said the witness, "that Lizzle had written a letter to the teacher at the seminary in Germany where Bertha had been studying, reflecting on her (Bertha's) character. I advised Lizzle not to send it and she told her mother that Bertha had told her father about the letter. My wife got very mad and ordered both me and Bertha out of the house, All the other of my children had left before."

Judge Lubke again took the witness and asked:

"She said I had murdered her children, and it was then that I said 'you are crazy."

"Didn't you ever call her crazy on any "Didn't you ever call her creaty ou any other occasion?"

"I believe I did once when I had been out riding with my daughter Tony. My wife said I was always, riding with Tony and that any body would think that she was my mistress. I then said that she was crazy. She accused me of being in love with other relatives and all such things."

She accused me of being in love with other relatives and all such things."

A DAUGHTER'S TESTIMONY.

Miss Bertha Griesedieck, a handsome girk of 17, daughter of both the contestants, was called to the stand. She wore a jaunty hat that would have been the despair of a theatrical party behind her at a show, a light dress and a wrap of many folds and farbelows. She said she had been educated in Germany. Mr. Finkelnberg asked about the row between her father and mother at Hobeken upon their return from Europe. She told the story in substance as her father had related and said that her mother had charged her father with buying diamonds for a bad woman. On the way over from Europe her mother got mad with her and forbade her to speak to her brothers and sisters when they came to meet her on this side.

She also related the circumstances attending the separation of her father and mother. She added that when her mother ordered her father and herself to leave the house, Mrs. Griesedieck called her husband many vile names." asked Mr.

"What were those names?" asked Mr. Finkelnberg.
The witness repeated the names. They were all in German. She then said that her mother struck her and made her go to her room and stay there.
"Did she call you any names?"
"Yes, a great many."
"What were they?"
"She called me a devil, a beast, a liar and said she would rather chain me in my room than let me go out of the house."
"Was there any other reason for this than that you had told your father about the letter Lizzie had written to the teacher in Germany?"

lizze and written to the teacher in pr'.

"No, that was all that caused her to get angry on that occasion. Father told me that if mother didn't want me in the house I must pack up my things and we would leave. Dr. Ludering came to the house and advised us to remain. He finally said that father must stay, but that if mother didn't want me I had better go."

"Did not your mother want you to become domestic and lay off your fine clothes and not play the lady?"

"Yes."

"Did you help in the housework about the house?"

"Yes. I did everything I was told to do."

"Have you no reason for your mother's change of feeling for you; why did she think differently of you when you came back?"

"All because I knew about the ring for Tony and did not tell her about it."

A recess was then taken.

At 2:15 o'clock the trial was resumed, and Miss Bertha Griesedieck put on the stand for further cross-examination, which was conducted by Judge Luebke.

further cross-examination, which was conducted by Judge Luebke.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON'S PROCEEDINGS.

The afternoon testimony in the Griesedieck divorce case before Judge Withrow yesterday was more interesting than the morning's developments. The usual array of sons and daughters, sons-in-law and daughters and one son, both very strongly resembling the mother, sat by her, all the rest sat apart except the older sons who sometimes sat by Mr. Finklenburg, the father's attorney, and prompted him.

Mr. Finklenburg asked Mr. Anton Griese-dieck how much he had given his wife.

"Besides real estate, about $15,000."

"Tell what it was please."

"Twenty shares at $500 each in the Griese-dieck Artificial Ice Co."

"That still pays dividends?"

"What else was there?"

"Three Union Depot Railway bonds of $1,000 each, one Brewers' syndicate bond for $1,000, two $100 syndicate bonds and some mining shares."

"Now tell the Court how much you paid for the house on Second Carondelet avenue and Lami street?"

"The ground cost me first $9,000 and then I built a house for $7,000 and a stable for $3,500 and spent about $2,500 more on decorations and things."

"All of this you gave to your wife?"

"Yes."

"Did you pay her anything beside?"

"Yes."

"All of this you gave to you wave."
"Yes."
"Did you pay her anything beside?"
"Did you pay her anything beside?"
"Yes, I sent her $150 a month. One month
I sent her only $100 and she sent it back."
"Now, Mr. Griesedieck," said Mr. Finglenburg, "you of coarse, lose your temper sometimes; tell the Court exactly what you

'You would not have done this if your wile had not taunted and insulted you?"

'No."
On cross-examination by Judge Lubke, Mr. Griesedieck testified that he was 64 and his wife 44 years of age.

"'Did you not marry her in Germany against her parents' wishes?"

'Yes, her mother was dead, but her father did not want me to marry her. So we went to Hamburg and got married."

'You failed in business shortly after that, did you not?"

Mr. Griesedieck did not like the question at all and said he did not see what bearing it had on the case, but he finally answered "yes,"

Household Expenses. The divorce case of Kate Sugden agains Benjamin Sugden was concluded before Judge Klein this morning. The plaintiff declared that she was married in 1881, in St. Lonis, and that she had always properly conducted herself toward him, while he on the other hand had subjected her to all kinds of indignities. On several occasions he would take her by the throat and choke her. and he was also in the habit of using vile and and he was also in the habit of using vile and obscene language. Finally he began to es-tablish a system of petty annoyances which were beyond endurance. One of these was the way he provided for the household. He would give her $8 a week for board and every

the way he provided for the household. He would give her $8 a week for board and every time he took a meal down town he would give his wife a meal check, and at the end of the week these checks were deducted from the $8 allowed her. He absented himself from home frequently, and never provided for the family, Mrs. Sugden allexed.

Mr. Sugden testifying for himself, when he got into the hands of the attorney for the plaintiff, told a very sad tale. He said:

"I have had a miserable life. I have been disappointed; my wife was not what I expected her to be, and our troubles began to grow and grow. I have a memorandum here which I wrote two sars ago. I was then contemplating suicide. I was so miserable. I have been discharged from places because I could not take my mind off my troubles. I was so worried over my family affairs that I could not do my work."

"Did you ever call her ugly, vulgar and obscene names?" asked Attorney McEntyre.

"Yes, I did. I called her every vile name I could think of when she came home late. One word led to another, and so on until we were abusing each other as hard as we could."

"Did you call her these names in the presence of your children?"

"No, I never used such words in the presence of the children, but I did use words to her, words as bad as she is."

"Then she is a bad woman, is she?" asked the attorney.

"No, I won't say that! I won't say that, I her, words as bad as she is."

"Then she is a bad woman, is she?" asked the attorney.

"No, I won't say that! I won't say that, I should like to take that back. That woman was my wife once, and God knows I loved her."

Mr. McEntyre asked some questions about escorting his daughter to the depot to meet a certain man, and of trips taken by the girl to Mammoth Cave, etc.

Judge Rieln decided it was best not to go to Mammoth Cave, but to stay in St. Louis.

Mrs. Sugden was put on the stand to testify as to whether she had ever gone under an assumed name. She said "no," but afterwards admitted that she was occasionally called Snyder, a name she was often called by at the lodge and one under which she often had packages sent to the house.

Mr. H. F. Claycamp was called and asked as to Mrs. Sugden's reputation. He said that he was occupied in attending to his own affairs and had no time to pry around in the affairs of other people.

Mrs. Kahn, a neighbor of Mrs. Sugden's, was called as to Mrs. Sugden's reputation. She professed entire ignorance on the subject.

ject. Mr. Sugden's daughter by a former marriage said she had not been friendly with Mrs. Sugden, but she had contributed herself considerably to the support of the family. She acknowledged that Mrs. Sugden had made the clothes for the children and had supported them almost entirely by dressmaking. When the witness testified as to her father's troubles and how he came to her broke and hard up, she resolved into tears, but braced up again.

After all the testimony was in Judge Klein decided to grant a decree to the wife, with the custody of the children, and dismissed the bill of the defendant.

The Proceeding to Remove Dr. Brenuan Was Instituted.

So Attorney Glover Charged at the Trial To-Day.

THE ACCUSATION MADE THE MAYOR WINCE AND CHANGE COLOR.

The Lawyer Wanted to Prove by Dr. Max Starkloff and His Honor That the Latter Is Trying to Oust the Health Commissioner to Give the Office to the South End Physician-Mr. Walbridge Ruled the Proceeding Out of Order.

The High Court of Chancery Instituted in the Mayor's office for the purpose of trying charges preferred by his honor against Health Commissioner Wm. N. Brennan was called to order at 10:45 o'clock this morning by Judge Walbridge. At 10:30 o'clock Mr. John M. Glover of counsel for Dr. Brenna put in an appearance and after casting a hurried glance over the array of witnesses summoned for the prosecution said:

"I am ready to proceed, your honor, but "We are not quite ready yet," said his

The sensation of the day was when Mr. Glover offered to put the Mayor, himself, on the stand and show that prior to the institution of these pr he had promised Dr. Max Starkloff to use his influence with the City Councilmen to secure for him Dr. Brennan's place. Mr. Glover also wished to put Dr. Starkloff on the stand The speech fell like a bombshell on the assembled horde of Republican politicians present, and even caused the City Counselor to look uneasy. He asked Mr. Glover if he meant to infer that he included him in this alleged compact. Mr. Glover said he did

When court was opened Mayor Walbridge said: "I want to go on with the hearing un-til it is terminated. I am here to have these charges proved or disproved, and I want to do away with all technicalities. The courts will have, as I understand it, an opportunity of reviewing the proceeding. The charter provides for this, and the chief executive has but one plain duty to perform—that is to how that there was cause for removal.

"For that reason I must ask that you con-cumstances so well calculated to arouse indignation in the breasts of all people who profess the commonest feelings of humanity. This cow, belonging to a dairy man named McCarthy, residing on Compton Hill escaped from her owner's yard Tuesday night and was found yesterday morning in Lafayette Park, where she had injured the shrubbery and grass to some extent. In accordance with usage the poundmost give the defendant a fair and impartial hearing. In support of this motion he introduced the affidavits of Dr. Brennan and O. T. Smith to prove that the Mayor at the conclusion of the testimony on Mobday last referred to "our side of the case"—meaning thereby the prosecution. Mr. Glover then spoke in support of the motion and said that as it was impossible for him to look on this proceeding in any one he would be compelled occasionally to smile, but he would refrain from commenting on this feature as far as he possibly could. He gid not see how the Mayor could consistently try the case, and from a pure sense of justice he asked that the whole matter be referred to the City Council, a body having the right and power to try the case and give an impartial verdict.

Another reason I must ask that you condition and the service of all people who profess the commonest feelings of humanity. This cow, belonging to a dairyman named McCarthy, residing on Compton Hill escaped from her owner's yard Tuesday night and was found yesterday morning in Lafayette Park, where she had injured the shrubbery and grass to some extent. In accordance with usage the pound.

When the cove found that she was being led away from the direction of her home by strangers, she became fractious and in her excitement knocked down one of the downer was the case in the conclusion of the testimony on Mobday and the strangers and the decrease from the conclusion of the testimony on Mobday and the first and impartial verdict.

Somith to prove that the would refrain from commendation of the testimony on Mobday and the strangers, she became fractious and in her matter be referred to the City Council, a body having the right and power to try the case and give an impartial verdict.

Another reason why he thought the Mayor should not try this case was that Dr. Brennan's successor had been agreed upon and selected before these proceedings were instituted. He thought he could produce witnesses to prove this.

The City Counselor then indulged in a long harangue to show that the motion was not out of order and made a feeble attempt to protect his honor in the delicate position he seemed determined to hold.

Mr. Glover then followed with a few words and reiterated his statement that he wished to show in support of his motion that Dr. Brennan's successor had been relected before he was brought to trial. The Mayor said he would overrule the motion.

Mayor said he would overrule the motion.

"Then," said Mr. Glover, "I want to show by this record that we offered to put on the witness stand the Hon. Cyrus P. Walbridge and Dr. Max C. Starkloff to show that a political compact existed, by which Dr. Brennan was to be removed from the position of Health Commissioner and Dr. Starkloff appointed to his place."

The Superintendent of the Work-house, Mr.
Lohrum, was then put on the stand and testified that while Dr. Brennan was not a frequent visitor to the institution, he did not recall that any harm or damage was done thereby. Everything ran along very smoothly.

Dr. Kerley, Superintendent of the Female Hospital, testified that the Health Commissioner had on several occasions gent him green men. He also said that the doctor was not a very frequent visitor at the institution.

Supt. Gallagher of the Poor-house was the next witness, and testified that he remembered eight different occasions on which Dr.
Brennan had visited the institution. He had discharged several employes for drunkenness.

discharged several employes for Gruhsenness.

There were several tilts between the City Counselor and Mr. Glover during the examination of the witness. Mr. Marshall had stated that be would withdraw a certain question, as he wanted to give the defense all the show possible. Immediately following upon this. he objected to Mr. Glover asking Gallagher whether he, Gallagher, or some one else kept the records of the Foor-house.

GLOVER AND MARSHALL CLASH. hought you wanted to do us justice," said Mr. Glover.
"I do," said Mr. Marshall. "I object to

"I do," said Mr. Marshall. "I object to the question."
"Objection sustained," said the Mayor mechanically.
"I know that," said Mr. Glover. "I think the counsel will need watching."
"I don't need any watching by you," said Mr. Marshall, growing pale, "and I won't submit to it."
"Well, I think I am just the proper man to do it at present, and I always perform my duty," Mr. Glover replied.
Chief Sanitary Officer Francis testified that he had been Health Commissioner for six years, and had been connected with the Health Department for seventeen years.
He was asked what was the character of the employes appointed in his department by Dr. Brennan.
The question was objected to and the objection overruled. Many of the men appointed, he said, were incompetent. Witness was then about to give the contents of a letter he had written to Dr. Brennan on the subject.
"Now produce the letter, Mr. Francis. It last."

The letter was introduced and showed that Dr. Brennan had complained of the bad spelling of some of the employes of the Sautary Department. Mr. Francis recommended their discharge. Some of them were dismissed. Witness did not know any thing about the length of time Dr. Brennan devoted to his office. When asked to give his opinion as to the competency of Dr. Brennan to be Health Commissioner he said he did not care to answer that question unless compelled by the Mayor.

The Mayor said he need not answer.

DR. BRENNAN INCOMPETENT.

DR. BRENNAN INCOMPETENT. Dr. A. C. Robinson, member of the Board of Health, the next witness, was asked the same question. Mr. Glover objected again and said Dr. Brennan should be convicted by and said Dr. Brennan should be convicted by proving specific charges against him, and not by the opinions of a few individuals. "And let me say right here," Mr. Glover added, "that outside of this charmed little circle, I dare say there never was a similar instance in the history of this country where a gentleman's and an official's character was attacked in such an unwarranted manner."

Mr. Marshall said he did not care to argue the point.

the point.

The Mayor told the witness to reply.

'I do not think he is qualified for the position,' said the witness.

A recess was then taken until 20'clock.

The Mayor raised the point that the letters and other records in the case should be preserved and suggested that some one be appointed as clerk of the court to hold them.

There being no objection Mr. Wm. Flewellyn Saunders, the Mayor's secretary, was installed as high keeper of the records of the Mayor's court.

DR. FORSTER TESTIFES.

DR. FORSTER TESTIFES. The first witness called after the recess wa Dr. Forster, who said he was a member of the Board of Health. the competency of Dr. Brennan as Health Commissioner. He said that as a member of the Board of Health he displayed great tardiness in the discharge of his duties. Witness could not pass on his competency as Health Commissioner. The Board of Health knew nothing of the appointment of Dr. Mortland as assistant at the Insane Asylum.

Mr. Glover maintained that the Board of Health records would speak for themselves. Witness was then asked about the removal of McCarty as storekeeper at the Female Hospital. He thought McCarty was unfit for the position. On cross examination he was asked if it was not a facit that Nr. Walbridge when a member of the Board of Health had not been present at more than four meetings in four years. He thought he had been there at least seven times.

Gen. John Stevenson, ex-City Comptroller, was then called. He was not present, and a long delay occurred.

After the examination of Gen. Stevenson defence will be given time to prepare their case.

INHUMAN DOG-CATCHERS. ns Manner in Which a Cow Wa Tortured to Death.

A dead cow is lying on the corner o Indiana avenue and Pestalozzi street, and while a dead cow is no novelty in the City of St. Louis never was a cow killed under cir. cumstances so well calculated to arouse in dignation in the breasts of all people who evening without food or water other than kind hearted citizens of the neighborhood brought her.

Mrs. C. H. Hickman of 2036 Sidney street remonstrated with the dog-catchers for their brutal treatment, and when she found her words of no avail telephoned to the Humane officer, and also sent her daughter with a verbal notice of the abuse the cow was receiving and was told if the officer got time he would attend to it. He got no time apparently, for the cow stood on the corner all day.

At about 6 o'clock in the evening the same men came back and tied the cow's head fast to the lumber wagon they had with them and started for the pound. The cow was dragged part of the way and reared up, putting her front feet on the wagon. Then one of her feet got caught in the wheel, and she was dragged over the wheel and along the street until the corner of Indiana avenue and Pestalozzi street was reached, when they contrived to break the poor beast's shoulder. Satisfied with this they released her, and she lay at this point until 10:30 this morning, at which time she was shot.

beast's shoulder. Satisfied with this they released her, and she lay at this point until 10:30 this morning, at which time she was shot.
Every resident of that part of town was attracted by the brutality of the men, and they universally condemn the actions of the dog catchers as unnecessary and horrible.
The firemen of Engine Company No. I were very outspoken against the manner in which the cow was handled near Victor street. One of them said: "I remonstrated with the dogcatchers, and asked them not to treat the animal that way. They were stoning her and throwing clubs at her-but was answered: "I'm doing this." I said: "Go shead and do it then, but I would not do it in that way." The cow's nose was bleeding at that time."
Vincenz Frank, corner of McNair avenue and Victor street, said: "I saw the men's brutal treatment of the cow. I saw her nose bleeding and one of her eyes was put out, I think. At any rate it was bleeding freely."
Charles Dunsford of 2315 Pestalozzi street said: "I saw them drag the cow last night.
She was tied short to a lumber wagon and got her feet upon the wagon, one of her feet caught in the wagon wheel and she was drawn clear over the wheel, the dog catchers still driving on. Some men spoke to them;
I do not know if he were a Humane officer or not; but I heard one of the dog catchers say: "I don't give a — for the Humane Society, they can go to —. Drag her along." They broke the cow's leg and left her in front of my place. Some time in the night the cow struggled on her feet and getting on the street car track blocked the road for some time in the night the cow and I and my wife sat at the window and listened to her almost human groahs and short bellowing. I wentdown and asked the policeman if he was going to let the cow suffer there all night, and he said to me:
"Varyou vant? You tink I can pick her up and carry her avay." She was killed this morning." Wrs. C. H.

LOUISVILLE, May 11.—Republican League circles have been decidedly lively ever since the delegates returned from the Kentucky Derby yesterday. The League and the National Committee went with all Louisville to see the famous race. Politics were forgotten recommended.

The attendance at the convention was larger this morning than it was yesterday. There was a good deal of disappointment expressed on the part of the rank and file of the convention that more of the national party. leaders were not present. It was announced before the convention met that Russell A. Alger, J. Sloat Fassett, Thomas B. Reed, John C. Spooner, Gov. William McKinley, Jr., Levi P. Morton and a dozen others of equal prominence would attend and address the convention and lend their counsel in conducting it. But none of them came, and

This is especially true as regards Spooner and Fassett, who were mentioned as candidates for the presidency of the league.

CLARKSON'S MANIFESTO.

The remarkable manifesto issued yesterday to the Republican League of the United States by Chairman Clarkson under the guise of an annual address, was the chief topic of discussion among the delegates as they assembled in Macauley's Theater this morning, preparatory to the opening of the second day's session of the National Convention. To the delegates that are opposed to any tinkering with the platform adopted at Minneapolis and which must remain the gospel of the party until the evening of another presidential campaign, the utterances of the leader of the young Republicans were anything but palatable. No more radical a declaration of principles, they contended, could have gone out from an out and out Alliance convention. It was a bodily adoption of third party issues and timber, that at the present time at least was premature and ill-advised, and would give aid and comfort to the guerilla enemy that did its share in the bushes toward the defeatof November.

These were the opinions of a good many of the delegates, especially those halling from the East. Others there were, however, that applauded Clarkson for the independent stand, and insisted that he had sounded the keynote of the music to which the party would hereafter have to keep step if it ever hoped to regain control of national affairs.

A one term presidency, woman suffrage, election of United States senators by the people, postal telegraphs, absolute civil service, were issues, they said, that third partyles had demonstrated could no longer be kept in the background and the quicker that they were incorporated in the platform of the Republican party the better for its interests and prospects. The Pennsylvania, New York and Chicago delegates were slow in getting to the hall this morning, and as a consequence Chairman Clarkson was nearly an hour behind time in calling the gathering to order, and even then he the rear had missed every word of the prayer but the amen.

The convention approved the report of a special committee naming Denver as the place for the next meeting and designated the date as the second Wednesday in May.

RESOLUTIONS REPORTED.

The report of the Committee on Platform was presented by Delegate Sedgrick of Rhode Island. As soon as it had been read the convention was thrown into a tumult of denate by the submission of colored delegates of resolutions denouncing the midnight assassinations and outrages of the South and the political oppression of the negroes. Colored Delegates Plumb of Louisana and Jones of Nebraska led the talking with vigorous speeches demanding justice for the Colored Republicans.

The colored men's resolutions were referred to a committee to report this afternoon.

Another long and excited debate occa-berby yesterday. The League and the National Committee went with all Louisville to see the famous race. Politics were forgotten for the time, candidates for the Presidency and Secretaryship of the League declared a trice, and became true Kentuckians until the Derly was over. And then the fight was renewed with redoubled vigor.

All last night, that is from so clock in the evening until 4 this morning, the Sub-Committee of the Committee on Resolutions was in session. The bone of contention in this body was the resolution favoring women's suffrage, which was introduced by Dr. Blakewell of Boston in the convention yesterday. It is as follows:

They seperal several months ago and the children placed in an asylum. Afterwards their father took them out and brought them down to Hot springs. Here they claim they were not treated properly and the result was they determined to make their way to this city. Not having any money they were unable to secure railroad tickets, and the only resort left for them was to walk. They left six weeks ago and arrived in this city Tuesday. That evening they spent at the city Hall. The next morning they hunted up Matron Harris, who reported their troubles to the Mayor. The matron has taken care of them the last two days.

DON'T LIKE PERCENTAGES. Pooled Railways Disagree Over Division of Immigrant Business. NEW YORK, May 11.—Nothing is more con-vincing of the existence of a pool of the trunk line railroads than figures showing the actual operations during the past few months. . Many instructive points are thus gained as to the amount of traffic carried by months. Many instructive points are thus gained as to the amount of traffic carried by each railroad and the fluctuation of traffic from one line to another.

It will no doubt surprise many to learn that there is in existence a clearing-house strangement for the pool, something similar to that in vogue in the Stock Exchange, and if the adjustment is not on a money basis, it seems a good deal like it.

The operations of the passenger pool have been successfully carried on up to a certain point, but now trouble is ahead unless certain foes settle "balances" or whatever it may be termed.

The passenger pool has been in operation more than two years, but it was practically a dead let until the presidents of the Trunk Lip and Central Traffic associations last November decided to pool all competitive traffic, both freight and passenger, between New York and Chicago and St. Louis, and appointed Aldace F. Walker as arbitrator to settle questions of dispute pertaining to the equal division of traffic.

A great deal of work was done by Messrs. Walker, Goddard and Blanchard organizing the east and west bound freight pools, but they did not meet with the success that they anticipated. They were found to be cumbrous, and some of the railroads did not extend their support to the scheme. It is hoped, however, that they can conduct a pool of all the lake traffic which the trunk lines receive at Euffalo and Erie, and thus avoid demoralization of rates.

The only class of passenger traffic that can be readily diverted is emigrant, or third class business. Most of this passes through the immigrant clearing house of the Trunk Line Association, and it is divided equally between the eight railroads is entitled to. The New York Central, for example, is allowed 38 per cent, the Erie 15 per cent, and soon.

The way they adjust the first and second-class traffic about 15,000 more than its allotted share. That is, it had carried nearly 37 instead of 38 per cent. To even up with the other lines the commissioners should divert that many im and second-class passengers as they were entitled to, Obviously they wanted the emigrant tramic that was diverted.

But this is a question that has been under dispute for over two years. A lot of immigrants are routed over the New York Central and Canadian Pacific, which the Central refuses to divert, claiming that it has nothing to do with these passengers and they should not be reckoned in its allowance of one-third of the immigrant business. It is claimed that without the diversion of some of these so-called "extra" immigrants the Central is still ahead of its percentage. This is one of the matters that needs to be adjusted sooner or later.

In the second place, the New York, Lake central is still ahead of its percentage. This is one of the matters that needs to be adjusted sooner or later.

In the second place, the New York, Lake Ontario & Western, which was formerly behind on first and second-class traffic, has picked up wonderfully and lately it has rua ahead of its proportion. It is claimed by competitors that it should diver nearly a thousand second-class passengers or make good the adjustment to the clearing-house scheme, inasmuch as the diversion of immigrant business is not sufficient to even up things.

Through immigrants are reckoned at $13 each. The conclusion which competitors reached was that there was due them for distribution a certain amount of revenue. To this the reply was that it must stand to the credit of the road in excess, and things may adjust themselves in time. This is taken to mean that there will be a demand for a new allotment or percentage in which the Ontario & Western will demand a larger share of first and second-class passenger traffic, because it has demonstrated its ability to get the business.

But the fact remains that certain roads are the business.

But the fact remains that certain roads are ahead of their allotment and the precise amount has been figured out in revenues.

He left his house recently to look after some macadamizing contracts in Queens County. As Mr. Mills lives by himself the house was tenantiess after his departure, and some young people looked into the empty house, and, seeing a plano, they got into the room and sheld an impromptu concert. Then they got to rummaging around and the first thing they knew they were looking at the coffin. Had the man forgotten it or was he playing a shastly joke on the next tenant?

an a Man Convicted of Assault be Tried for Murder on His Victim's Death? RILLSBORO, Ill., May 11,-Thomas Allen, young man aged 19 years, lies dead in the Shelby County Hospital as a result of in-juries received from knife wounds made by a tramp Frenchman, who is now in Cheste Penitentiary serving a sentence of one year upon a charge of "attempt to murder."

It is claimed Miller, the Frenchman, having been once convicted for his crime cannot be brought back and again tried and convicted of murder. convicted of murder.

Thomas Allen's parents reside at an unknown point in Missouri, and are as yet unaware of their son's death, and it is not known that they have had knowledge of his whereabouts the past few weeks. Some weeks since Allen came to Shelby County and went towork as a farm hand near Strasburg. In s since Allen came to Shelby County and went towork as a farm hand near Strasburg. In a short time after his arrival he became aware of the existence of a gang of counterfeiters at Strasburg and through his detective work the Government arrested three men, who are awaiting trial with a clear case against them unless Allen's death takes away the testimony that would convict them. This bit of work gave Allen a big name for a few days all over the country, and it was generally thought he was a detective in Government employ.

A day or two after this adventure Allen went to the livery stable of Mr. Poeln Strasburg and hired a saddle horse. He did not return with the animal at night as he promised to do, and on the morning of the third day Poe sent officers to look for him. They found him at Windsor, and he claimed that the horse had thrown him and got away. The animal could not be found, the explanation was not satisfactory and Allen was put in jail on the charge of being a horse thief. In his cell as a comrade was a Frenchman named Miller, a tramp, charged with the burning of box-cars of the Big Four Kailroad. April 9 Allen and Miller had a fight, in which Miller stabbed Allen in the breast just over the Beart, and also in the back and on the left shoulder.

The Grand-jury was in session at the time and the day previous had refused to indict Allen for horsestealing, but had not yet returned the order for his release into court. The fight brought new work for the jury, which was about ready to adjourn, and as physicians stated they were satisfied Allen would not die, the jury indicted Miller for attempt to kill. He pleaded guilty to the charge and said the only regret he had to express was that he had not been allowed to cut Allen into shoestrings. He was given one year in the Penitentiary and the charge of arson dismissed.

present, and among those who opposed the two petitions filed were Mr. Dan Catlin, Mr. Charles H. Peck, Mr. Charles Fink, R. E. Collins and Judge W. F. Boyle. These gentlemen were all of the opinion that Twelfth street was already too wide, as there was no commercial use to which a street of that width could be put. They were of the opinion that the street ought to be narrowed instead of widened.

Besides it was claimed that it would be a gross injustice to tax the few property-owners in that vicinity for what is essentially an improvement to the entire city and not a source of individual profit in any way to the adjoining property-owners. Parties who favored the petitions were then given a chance and Mr. Bernard G. Farrar during the course of his remarks took occasion to criticise the remarks of Judge Boyle and R. E. Collins, reprepresentative and heir of the Lindell estate. He said the city of St. Louis did not owe the Lindell estate or any heir or representative of the Lindell estate a single cent and he could show it.

They advocated the widening of the street all the way through for the benefit that would ensue to Washington and Franklin avenues and also to the entire city as a street for parades, processions and displays during festival times. The committee took the matter under advisement.

The victim of the mob is in a critical condition and may die.

After laving Cardwell the mob proceeded to the home of the Mitchell woman who was taken some distance from the house and severely beaten with hickory switches. Screams could be heard for a mile around as the rapidly descending lashes rent the flesh. She was told to leave the community within twenty-four hours or she would be killed. DWIGHT TREADWAY'S DEFENSE.

He Makes Answer to the Suit Filed by His Brother's Widow.

Mr. Dwight Treadway was seen to-day by Post-Distance reporter at his office in regard to the suit entered against him yesterday by his brother's widow to recover the amount of the bond furnished by him as cruiser Blake lost, it is said, over 150 men, executor. Mr. Treadway said:

rother died insolvent. His life was insured. for the benefit of his widow, to the extent of nearly $13,000, which she received, but two children by a former wife were left totally unprovided for, except a life insurance policy of $1,000, which gave them $800 each. The widow promised that she would give the children a portion of the liberal amount she received from the life policies, but she has not done so, except to give one of them an overcoat and the other a donation of less than $100.

"Theightldren have been left entirely dependent on relatives, and she has furnished portion only of the amount she claims, but in justice, if anything is to be paid at all, it should go to the children, who are entirely unprovided for, except the 5800 each already referred to, and I have offered to entertain any reasonable claim provided the widow would permit me to pay it out to the children instead of to her. This I am still willing to do, but I am not willing, after she has taken for her own use the insurance money, which my brother intended should be used for the maintenance of his children, as well as hers, that she should get possession of any further funds, when by her own statement, she is amply provided for, and

AN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 11.-The trial of mackay, was begun yesterday. Rippey was pale and emaciated from confinement in but he was cool and apparently unconcerned. Mackay was the chief witness against him. The bonanza millionaire showed no traces of his illness. He was dressed neatly and he teld his story in a direct fashion. It was the same story that he gave at the time, and its most striking features were that he did not know that he was he la bystander informed him, and that he lad never seen Rippey to know him nor had ver knowingly done him an injury.
Other witnesses gave minute details in regard to the shooting, the pistol and other cts. From the questions of Rippey's counsel in selecting a fury it is evident that in-Hefferman had quarreled with his vife over the attention paid to her by Edward Russell, a switchman, and separated, Last night Mr. and Mrs. Hefferman met and had apparently settled their difficulty. On their way home they met Russell and a quarrel ensued between the latter and hefferman. Mrs. Hefferman attempted to separate them and in the attempt shot her husband in the left breast, killing him instantly. Mrs. Hefferman and Russell have been arrested.

Kansas City, Mo., May II.—The headless and limbless trunks of two human male bod-les were found in a barrel floating in the Blue River late last night. The bodies were in a good state of preservation, and there is nothing to adicate that they came from the dissection of the Coroner is making an investigation on the theory of a double murder. Various wounds upon the trunks indicate that the heads and limbs were chopped off with a blunt ax or hatchet. No clothing or other means of identification was found with the bodies.

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 11.-"Monk" Barks-dale, a negro rapist, was lynched west of the town of Laurens, near the home of United States Senator Irby, last evening. While the young daughters of a farmer named James Whone, both under il years, were returning from school Monday evening through a dense wood they were accosted by a negro, who selzed the elder child, and in rough language announced his intentions. The children screamed, and, the brute becoming alarmed, ran away without accomplishing his purpose. "Monk" was arrested by a posse and when brought before the girls was identified by them as their assailant. The crowd then took "Monk" and hung him to a tree. The negro, before being strung up, confessed his "guilt. Senator Irby, it is said, witnessed the hanging, and urged the crowd not to mutilate the body. This is the third lynching in this State within a week.

THE GEARY LAW.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—On the con-clusion of Joseph H. Choate's argument be-fore the Supreme Court on the Chinese ex-clusion cases, last evening Charles H. Aldrich, Solicitor General, appeared on be-Aldrich, Solicitor General, appeared on behalf of the United States and argued in favor of the constitutionality of the Geary law.

These cases, he contended, could not be distinguished from the Chinese exclusion case tinguished from the Chinese exclusion case (180 United States, 581), in which the court had decided most of the points at issue. The Geary act had not for its purpose the deportation of Chinese laborers, as counsel for the petitioners erroneously assumed, but to provide a system of identification and registration for such as were here. This is a lawful purpose, whether applied to citizens or to aliens. The menns by which the identification is attained, the Solicitor-General contended, were also lawful and that the act is reasonable and humane in its provisions. reasonable and humane in its provisions. The refusal of the Chinese to observe the requirements of the law was under the advice of certain eminent legal gentlemen in whose opinion the law is unconstitutional. "An opinion," he continued, "which, as I shall controlled the continued of the continued of the controlled of opinion," he continued, "which, as I shall seek to show, is equivalent to a denial of the sovereignty of the United States in the exercise of enumerated powers of the constitution, of the authority of the previous decisions of this court and of well-settled principles of the law of nations. Mr. Aldrich maintained (i) the right of Congress to require aliens or citizens to register or obtain certificates of identification; (2) the power of Congress to restrict and even forbid such in migration, which must be conceded as a question of both international and constitutional law.

Of the necessity for such exclusion, the Congress to restrict and even forbid such in migration, which must be canceded as a question of both international and constitutional law.

Of the necessity for such exclusion, the political departments are the sole judges. The judiciary cannot pass upon that question, and so, and for like reasons it is thought that the methods and means by which the political departments seek to regulate. Himit or terminate the residence of such aliens as are already here are likewise exclusively within the jurisdiction of the political departments and beyond the confines of judicial power. The legislation under consideration, he contended, was authorized by the terms of the treaty of November, 1880, which reserves the right on the part of the United States to "regulate, limit or she pend such coming or residence."

Nit. Aldrich's third point was that "a nation has a right, according to international law, to prescribe the terms upon which the citizens or subjects of other nations shall be admitted to its territory; to forbid such admission; or, having admitted such Chinese and subjects, to regulate and list their residence therein; and whenever it chooses to do so, suspend such residence altogether, and require that they shall depart its territory." The fourth point was that the United States was a nation possessing like powers with other nations to exercise the ordinary and necessary means of self-preservation. From this it follows that "there is a police power of the United States which extends to and embraces all subjects confined to the general government and against the exercise of which a Chinese alien resident laborer is not entitled to invoke the guaranties of the constitution of the United States, designed for the protection of its citizens and citizens of the several states."

In conclusion the Solicitor General said: "Assuming the maxim that the safety of the people is the supreme law, then the police power in its relations to every subject of denger must, under our system, rest either in the States or the people of

IT WAS NOT A REVOLT. The Reported Uprising in the Holguin

HAVANA, Cuba, May 11 .- All fear of an organized attempt to overthrow the rule of Spain in Cuba seems to have vanished. It is even suggested that the sensational accounts of the outkreak, of which the Sartoris brothers were leaders, originated in semi-official papers and were spread with the intention of increasing the vote of the Spanish Cortes on the proposal of the Colonial Minister to rein-force the garrisons in Cuba and to increase the Cuban secret service fund and the gen-

the Cuban secret service lund and the gen-eral budget.

Opposition to these proposals was feared and Cuban newspapers now openly charge that the Holguin affair was arranged between the Captain-General and the Sartoris broth-ers with the hope of frightening the home Government into voting the sum asked for Cuba.

FEEBLE KOSSUTH.

The Aged Patriot Talks of Gladstone and Irish Home Rule.

ERIN MAY BE COMPELLED TO THROW HERSELF ON AMERICA.

Noval Solution for the Problem Now Vexing Great Britain-Richter, the German Radical, on the Stump Against the Emperor-Help for the Candidacy of Prof. Rudolph Virchow.

LONDON, May 11 .- The Pall Mall Gazette pub . lishes an interview with the venerable Hun-gari an patriot, Louis Kossuth, in regard to the Irish home rule bill. In the interv suth said that he wrote a memorandum years ago regarding Mr. Gladstone's home rule scheme. The memorandum, Kossuth said, would be found among his papers after his death, but he declined to disclose at present what the memorandum contained.

"As to Mr. Gladstone's second scheme for Irish home rule," Kossuth continues, "I know very little about it or the real principles underlying it. I believe, however, that Mr. Gladstone will never arrive at his goal. The Irish question presents the same objection as squaring a circle. It is a perfect Eutopia, this wish of Mr. Giadstone to establish the autonomy of Ireland to establish the autonomy of Ireland without granting that country absolute independence, and I should not be astonished if Ireland should one day throw herself into the arms of the United States in order to gain what she wants. The distance between the two countries does not count to-day as it did in the past. It has been said that the situation of Ireland is comparable to Hungary, and some eminent Englishmen have asked my opinion in regard to that assertion. My answer is that it is false. The Austrians never conquered Hungary as the English answer is that it is laise. The Austrans never conquered Hungary as the English conquered ireland. Hungary merely made a compact with the House of Hapsburg for the sake of neighborly association. Ireland, on the contrary, was conquered by force of arms and can only be delivered by force of arms."

Kossuth, who is 91 years old, looks feeble and wasted and is sometimes convulsed by fits of coughing. He still spends some of his time every day in behalf of Hungary.

RICHTER'S APPEAL. FIGHT IN GERMANY FOR AND AGAINST THE

KAISER'S POLICY. BERLIN, May 11 .- The preparations for the elections of June 15 are being vigorously pushed by the various parties. Eugene Richter, the leader of the stronger section of the Freisinnige, now known as the Freisinnige Volks party, or Radical party, addressed an enthusiastic meeting of the party in behalf of the candidacy of Prof. party in benair of the candidacy of Frof. Rudolph Virchow, who has been put forward for the Reichstag. Herr Richter defended the action of those who voted with him in the Reichstag and said that he hoped and believed that the division in the Freissinge party would prove to be of benefit. Herr Richter's utterances were cordially cheered.

Herr Eugene Richter is by all odds the most conspicuous personality in the Freisinnige party of German politics, and he will only add to his prominence by the step just taken, that of secession from the Conservative element among his former followers. The Richter wing of the Freisinniges will, it is predicted, prove to be the most powerful opponents of Chancelor Caprivi when he presents his new army bill to the new Reichstag.

The Freisinnige party embraces in its ranks the radical elements of the German Liberals. They seek to widen the present constitutional Government of the Empire and the States, as being a rudimentary and transitional form of Government, into a Parliamentary regime after the example of England. They advocate manhood suffrage, with single, direct and secret voting; liberty of conscience, religion, speech, association, meeting and the press; yearly budgets, with full parliamentary control of financial measures and taxation; and the actual responsibility of Ministers of State to Parliament. In the economic domain the radicals represent with complete fidelity the principles of what is known as the Manchester or liberalistic school; and in this respect, as in no other, are out of touch with the predominant tendencies of German thought and legislation. Herr Richter is a strong man, but there are others in the party who have force. Among these are Dr. Ludwig Bumberger, Prof. Virchow, Heinrich Rickerts, Dr. Max Hersh, Dr. Bambach and Prof. Handel. Herr Eugene Richter is by all odds the mos

FROM A BRITISH POINT OF VIEW.

Paris, May 11.—Attorney-General Sir Charles Russell of counsel for Great Britain before the Behring Sea Court of Arbitration began his address yesterday in behalf of the British case. The court-room was thronged with English and American residents of Paris and with visitors from abroad. Sir Charles began by bestowing generous praise on the arguments of Messrs. Carter and Coudert of began by bestowing generous praise on the arguments of Messrs. Carter and Coudert of counsel for the United States as full of intellectual allurements. Nevertheless, Sir Charles went on to say that he thought that Mr. Carter's line of argument had taken him into the misty clouds of sthical discussion which had no bearing on the case, He had also built strongholds which were legally indefensible.

For instance, the theory that foreign vessels could be seized in time of peace, that pelagic sealing was criminal and that seals, although wild, were nevertheless American property because they possessed the animum revertend displayed a remarkable confusion of ideas.

Neither internal nor municipal law would confer property in seals, were the dispute between persons instead of nations. On some points Sir Charles stated that he agreed with the American counsel because they drew right conclusions based on wrong premises. Sir Charles admitted that the legal question for decision by the tribunal contained in art. 6 should be submitted to the arbiters as jurists. This, however, implied that the tribunal of arbitration must declare what the law is, not attempt to make the law. Sir Charles agreed with the Americans that it was preferable that the seals should be exterminated rather than that the tribunal should swerve from the straight line of the law.

should be exterminated rather than that the tribunal should swerve from the straight line of the law.

The whole question had been exaggerated. The counsel of the United States had dwelt upon the cost of Alaska and the value of that territory to the United States on account of the seals; but at the time of the purchase of Alaska the United States did not take the seals into consideration.

This statement by Sir Charles caused a lengthy discussion as to the correctness of the assertion, Baron de Courcet, President of the Tribunal, American Arbitrators Harian and Morgan and E. J. Phelps of counsel for the United States, taking part in the discussion, and various points were brought out relating to the purchase of Alaska.

Commissioner of Public Buildings.

The revocation was made under an order from Mayor Walbridge, who, at the request of a delegation of South Side citizens, requested Mr. Reid to investigate whether the license granted to Powers to erect a chemical factory had not been turned over to the Merz company. The whole South End has been in a ferment over the matter and protesting mass-meetings have been held throughout the Eleventh Ward. The revocation will not, it is thought, stop the construction of the building nor prevent the company from attempting to carry out its purposes. There will be some acrimonious litigation over the matter but this morning's order from the Building Commissioner gives the South Side citizens a decided advantage over the garbage reduction company.

THE country had been promised and was looking for an explanation of the political for revolution of last fall as soon as the Republican leaders should get together at Louisville. President Clarkson, however, now says: "We have no explanations to make for the defeat of last year." This is disappointing, but it is well, perhaps, that Mr. McKinley's feelings have been spared.

"MORE VOTES."

Gen. Clarkson has essayed to give the Republican party a watchword for the next campaign, and when the meaningless bombast and florid oratory has been boiled out of his speech all that one can find is walling cry for "more votes."

The essence of the opening address to the Republican leagues is the demonstra that the party must win the tion young men and a majority of the votes that are to be cast 1896. That is a self-evident truth, but how to get them is the all-im portant question. In urging the Republicans to capture the youth of the land Gen. Clarkson fails to suggest the right means of doing it. His impassioned appeal to the young men to come into the Republican party is unsupported by a convincing reason for so doing. For the inspiration of party progress he refers to the dead past of Lincoln, Grant and Blaine. For vindication he tries to foist the sins of the Republican party on the shoulders of the new Democratic Administration. He discredits the intelligence and sense of justice of the American by false statements and unmerited criticisms with reference to an untried administration and by declaring with in a thinly settled community, where that they are weary of a policy which has not been carried into effect. For a platform of principles he suggests a manifesto of universal reform embracing all the isms that promise a vote.

This is the flimsiest political clap trap in which needs are mistaken for ideas and desire for power. But passing Clarkson, where is the inspiring leader of progressive principles to be found? There is no hope in McKinley's repudiated one-idea. Harrison's discredited and beaten moss-back or Reed's buffoonish Allison is shelved and Sherman's frosty wiliness shows no sparks of lite. The Republican organization is apparently in the hands of political speculators and unless someone with ideas turns up the great gathering of Republicans will be a pow wow of machine polilie in the chance of profiting by the blun ders of the party in power. "More votes" from either young or old men of discretion are not caught by that sort of chaff.

ELECTRIC AND STEAM RAILWAYS. The extensive scheme of electric railways projected in Connecticut and Massachusetts has encountered a snag in the Legislature of the former State, which is likely to postpone indefinitely this mode of rapid transit between towns and cities over the public highways. As originally passed the general bill authorizing franchises provided that an electric road should not parallel a steam company. If judges were so disposed when railway. The purpose of this was of they have such opportunities they might course manifest, and immediately protests get at some rich trust secrets of great inwere heard from Boards of Trade and other | terest to the public. popular bodies, which procured the elimination of the objectionable clause. The steam monopolies appear to be equal to the emergency, however, and the project is likely to fail.

This might have been foreseen. Electric transportation though in its infancy has indefinite possibilities, and the manager of the old style roads are very much alive to the danger which threatens them. Tram ways along country roads are likely to be strong competitors of the steam railways for local passenger traffic. The cost of building, maintenance and operation will be much less, and rates of fare will be limited, if not by charter provision at least by the common sense of the electric companies themselves. They will be masters of the situation and their big rivals will depend more and more upon through travel for support.

What will be the policy of the steam roads? Probably they will fight electric extension as long as they can in the Legislatures and courts as they are siready doing in Connecticut, and when these dil atory tactics are exhausted, will buy the franchises and put them in convenien pigeon-holes. The situation is rich with possibilities for the blackmailing legislator and fran-

ONE of the objections sturdily urged against the home rule bill in its present form is that it retains 103 Irish members in the British Parliament, with the right to vote on purely English questions. The entiment against this is not confined to the Tory party, but is entertained by many Liberals, who heartly dislike what they consider a violation of the right of local self-government. Abstractly the point is well taken, but the practical reasons brought forward to sustain the retention seem to be entirely satisactory to Mr. Gladstone. The way out of the difficulty seems very plain to an American familiar with the workngs of a system which provides local selfgovernment for each of the States, while placing common interests in the care of a Federal Congress. The federation plan which is so much discussed British statesmen is modeled after ours. It contemplates a parliament for each of the kingdoms and perhaps each of the colonies, which shall deal with purely local concerns, the Imperial Parliament to confine itself to affairs of the Empire. This is rational and to us seems feasible, but to the English mind is revolutionary, perhaps destructive. Much will be learned no doubt if the Irish members are retained and allowed to help legislate for the English.

JERRY SIMPSON thinks that the wome hould have the right of suffrage in Kansas, but if it is conferred upon them the State will go Republican for ten years to come. For so liberal a thinker Mr. Simpson is singularly illiberal on this question. Women are, as he himself points out, human beings and do a little thinking now and then, just like the other half of humanity. To suppose that they are the victims of fixed ideas is to go counter to the experience of the past, which demonstrates that they are as free-minded as their stronger partners. In fact, the fault most apparent from American experience is that when given a free field they are prone to display more originality and a greater yearning than men for new fabrics and fashions.

GOV. NORTHEN of Georgia is alive to the ecessity of putting down mob law, and proposes to go at the work systematically. Nevertheless it seems incredible that the Southern people need education in the beauties of law and order. They are probably as much devoted to the ideal-in the abstract-as anybody. The trouble seem to be that crime cannot be easily dealt a criminal has superior opportunities to ommit offenses and get away. Law and order will come with an increase of population. Until the country is filled up we may expect Judge Lynch to take jurisdiction occasionally, and do what in many cases the regular authorities cannot do.

REPUBLICAN politicans must find it a difficult to keep from laughing in each other's faces as the pagan priests of Rome did when they met after the sacrifices Everything they say seems to be founded upon the assumption that the people are fools and can be fooled indefinitely. Mr Clarkson's speech is even more daring in this respect than that delivered by Mr. Depew a few days ago. Of course the unthinking take these vaporings in all se riousness, but the effective vote cannot be however, as substantial contributions to the gaiety of the nation and as such ought to be encouraged by applause and laughter.

The Churches and the Fair. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

We have been utterly amazed, not that our clerical friends, religious editors and organizations have opposed the opening of the World's Fair on Sunday, but at the spirit in which they have presented their demands. The directors in the proposition to open the The directors in the proposition to open the World's Fair on Sunday have certainly had no intention of "insulting Christian sentiment" or of "desecrating the Sabbath," but have argued that in the opening there would be an opportunity given to those engaged during the week to enjoy the Exhibition, and the arguments have, so far as we know, been devoid of disrespect in manner or language. On the other hand we are sorry to notice on the part of our clerical friends and religious editors a disposition to ruin the Fair financially by threatening to stay away and using their influence to induce others to do the same, as eridenced by the following and similar expressions:

as the stellar to keep any from the Pair as long as the stellar and patriotic pride that so magnificent an undertaking as that which is now open to the gaze of the world should be anything but a success is something we are unable to comprehend, even if there are features about it that fall to appeal to our individual convictions and judgment.

Sell No City Land, Lease It.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: The good people of Chicago may be les sanctified and they may possess more cheek and wind than the citizens of St. Louis bu profiting by the experience of others, they had the good sense at least to retain a part of the public land for the benefit of their city. Instead of seiling for a pairry sum, the city of Chicago receives an ever increasing income by leasing the lots, and consequently a lower tax rate prevails. Our own city fathers, for reasons best known to themselves, decline to do for the benefit of those whom they ostensibly represent what they will do as private citizens. Although avowedly laboring for the public weal, they do not hesitate to repeat the public blunder of others, and instead of leasing the site of the old City Hall to the highest blidder and giving the community the leasing the site of the old City Hall to the highest bidder and giving the community the benefit of the rapidly increasing rental value of the lots, they are ready and willing to sacrifice the people's interest by permitting private individuals to fill their coffers at public expense, utterly ignoring that in a few years the annual rent of these lots will amount to more than the sum now offered for them in fee simple.

The welfare of the community demands that the city's land shall not be sold. One generation has no more right to sell the inheritance of future generations than one individual has the right to steal the earnings of another individual. of another individual.

The Park Concerts.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: For some time past I have been quite an anxious reader of your paper to ascertain whether the City Council would appropriate money to defray the expenses of park concerts during the present season. On noticing same to-day I have been pleased to notice that the Mayor and Park Commissioners have arranged to give sixty concerts during the "hot speil." Therefore, we urge vou to use your influence in having the concerts commence at 5 o'cleck instead of 3 o'clock, as there will be more bonefit derived from them at that time; the attendance would greatly increase and the heat would be moderated by the pleasant evening breezes. A Daylight Meteor. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Last Saturday evening, May 6, at 7 o'clock as I was walking around the lawn, something in the heavens attracted my attention.

In the heavens attracted my attention. I looked up and saw a shooting star or meteoritie soaring up from the east. I called another member of the family, and together we watched it until it reached the zenith, when it "broke," sending a shower of fire in all directions. At 7 o'clock it was still very bright daylight and no other stars visible. The ball of fire looked about three times the size of any other star. I had never witnessed anything so beautiful and at such a time. In relating this to our friends they doubt our veracity, and claim it was a rocket or something similar. But there was no report, and I feel sure it was one of nature's freeworks.

So we are to have a ship St. Louis and th city is to give it a tea service. Every one who has crossed the Atlantic, and I am one them, knows what a pleasure, almost a necessity, a library is to every ocean liner. A ship without a library would be a nautical and a literary freak. Now, why do not the good ladles of St. Louis, they who are clamoring for recognition, why do they not collect a library and present it to the marine namesake of the Future Great and thus make ring for recognition, why to the marine set a library and present it to the marine set a library and present it to the marine samesake of the Future Great and thus make hemselves dear to many thousands who are to cross the Atlantie on the St. Louis. the Broken Concerns-Discussion as to Causes of the Collapse - The World's Fair Branch Bank Depositors No Longer Excited-Clerks Making Up Their Accounts That the Gearanters

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 11 .- The Capital National Bank of this city, located on South Meridian street, suspended this morning. he bank's doors was made necessary by the closing of the Chemical National Bank o chicago last week, which institution owed carried a large amount of Premier Stee Works paper. The latter concern was placed in the hands of a receiver Friday last.

The bank is the depository for a number of building associations. The announcement of the suspension of the bank came as a great shock to the people, especially in Meridian street, where the news was first circulated, and in a few moments it was the only topic talked of by the business men.

Theories as to the cause and as to the ultimate result of the failure flew thick and fast. Some expressed the opinion that the failure would be only temporary. A general feeling of uneasiness was manifest, however. Nothing definite as yet can be ascertained and the crowds are waiting for developments.

M. D. Wilson is President and Charles Dougherty cashler of the suspended Capital Bank. They in their statement say: "The Capital Bank was organized in December, 1889, with a paid up capital stock of $300,000. It has done a profitable business from the beginning until now, and up to Tuesday morning, when the news of the failure of the Chemical National Bank of Chicago was received, there was nothing in the condition of the business of the bank to cause any concern or apprehension. The Capital National Bank, like other banks throughout the country, has pursued a conservative course, endeavoring to keep its discounts within prudent limits, and as the statement on the 4th of May by the Comptroller of the Currency shows, we had the reserve on hand that the banks of this city have prudently kept. The condition of the bank is good at this time. We had on deposit with the Chemical National Bank of Chicago at the time of its failure $79,000. The Chemical National Bank was our correspondent and the fact that we had a deposit with them became known and created apprehension and caused heavy drafts to be made uponlus. The balances were running against us so large that we felt it would be impossible without material aid to stem this current lany great length of time. There was no impaired capital as soon as the exact amount can be ascertained, and the bank will resume business. Every cent, it is asserted, will be

The Comptroller has designated D. The Comptroller has designated D. A. Cook, Bank Examiner for Illinois outside of the city of Chicago, to take charge of the Columbia National Bank of Chicago, which failed this morning. He has also telegraphed Hugh Young, Bank Examiner for Western Pennsylvania, residing at Pittsburg, to proceed at once to Indianapolis and take charge of the Capital National Bank of that city, which also failed this morning. He has no details of the failure of either of those banks.

President Parker of the United States Na-tional Bank, which is the New York corre-spondent of the Capital National Bank of Indianapoits, says:
"We have no direct information of the bank's suspension, and we are surprised to learn it. If the bank had asked us for help it would have received it. Their account with us has always been a good one."

Their last statement was made at the close of business May 4. The statement was made by Z. D. Wiggins, President, and certified to by L. Everwgham, D. G. Allen and D. W. Bentley, directors. After suspension was decided upon the announcement was made in the following notice:

There being a constant run on us for several days, in order to protect the depositors and all interested the Beard of Directors have decided to close for the present. All depositors will be paid in full.

ALL FOR A CALF. A $25,000 Damage Suit on Trial in the Circuit Court. The damage suit of Louis Flerer against Thomas Lowry for $25,000 for malicious pros-cution went to a jury to-day in Judge Fisher's court. The case has been on trial for two days and has provoked much keen Fisher's court. The case has been on trial for two days and has provoked much keen questioning and much oratory on both sides. As nearly as could be learned by sifting through the mass of evidence and expert testimony. Lowry owned a calf which he valued at $40; the calf was browsing about in the neighborhood of Grand avenue when Louis Fierer, landscape gardener, came along in his wagon. He saw the calf running up and down and kicking and foaming at the mouth. Fierer got off his wagon and caught the calf, intending, as he said, to take it to a place where he could turn the hose on it and cool its fevered hide and wash the foam from its mouth. Unhapplly, just as he had secured the calf and was embracing it around the neck, Mr. Lowry turned up and accused Mr. Fierer of trying to steal the calf. This in itself was a hard blow to Fierer's feelings, but the worst was to come. Lowry went out and secured, a warrant and had Mr. Fierer ruthlessly cast into durance vile, to escape from which necessitated a bond of $500, when the calf was worth only $40. The plaintiff was tried for trying to steal the court of criminal Correction and straightway sought baim for his injured feelings by relieving Mr. Lowry of a portion of his burden of wealth.

The Picker & Peardsley Hay and Commission suit for a bill on hay against the Jessa Arnot Livery Co., was tried before Judge Valliant to-day on an appeal from a Justice Court. The bill in question was for one wagon load of hay.

Daniel Hough, sulng as a poor person, brought an action for $5,000 damages against the Frobst Construction Uc. He states that on Dec. 14, 1892, he was working for the defendant on the Union Trust Building, when he was ordered up on the second floor to remove a block from the end of a boom which was used in holsting fron girders. The only foothold he had was on a narrow 10-inch girder. The boom through and by the neglect and carelessness of the company's agent, was allowed to slip, so that he was knocked into the cellar forty feet below, where he fell on a pile uestioning and much oratory on both sides.

ago's Mayor Rids Himself of a Pesti-

Cricago, Ill., May 11.-Mayor Harrison has ed a new method of ridding himself of nce-seekers. It will not work with all men, at it settles things when the visitor is ed with whiskers. Mr. Harrison's plan cticed yesterday, was very simple. He ed a lighted match to the whiskers and seeker departed at once. When Harrison came to his office in the after-Mayor Harrison came to his office in the afternoon it was fairly choked with officer-seekers, He had difficulty in forcing his way to the door of his private room, and as he did so was followed closely by Alderman "Little Mick." Ryan, who wanted an office for one of his constituents, "Keep away, Little Mick, keep away my boy, I say," remarked the Mayor as he rapped on the door for admission. The Alderman smiled, as much as to say: "It's only his way, I am solid with him."

But the Mayor did not regard the matter in just that way, for he repeated: "Go away, Ryan, go away; I won't see you."

Someone inside opened the door and the Mayor stepped over the threshold. Alderman Ryan followed and when Mr. Harrison attempted to close the door kyan put on, foot inside and attempted to bar him out. Mr. Harrison looked down at the Alderman and advised him a third time to go away, His cigar had gone out and he took a match from his pocket, struck it and relighted his perfecto.

from his pocket, struck it and relighted his perfecto.

Alderman Ryan's head was thrust half way in the door. His long gray beard stuck out in a tantalizing way, and quick as a flash the Mayor jabbed the match into the center of it. There was a puff of smoke, a burst of flame and a strong smell of burning hair, and smudged cuticle filled the air as the Alderman wildly beat at the flames that lost none of their heat through the language employed by the Alderman as he pranced about the floor until he put out the fire. Mr. Harrison paid no attention to the matter. He slammed the door and went on with his work just as if setting fire to aldermanic whiskers were ordinary muricipal business. The Alderman left the City Hall in search of a drug store, and vowing veageance with every motion or his scorched under jaw.

and His Mistake Will Cost Him Something Over $300.

NEW YORK, May 11.—There was a very un-the court of a suit that has been pending in the court of Appeals for some time. The case grew out of the refusal by Justice Thos. E. Murray to recognize Lawyer Wm. H. Secor in court unless he produced evidence that he was the bona fide attorney for Mr. Allen, one of the parties who sued to eject a tenant for or the parties who sued to eject a tenant for non-payment of rent. Secor claims that Jus-tice Murray's action was due to the desire to control the tenant's vote. The proceedings came first before him Sept. 30, 1892, and the haaring was adjourned to Oct. 8, till Secor c 'd make good his authority as attorney. N ter the lawyer nor the landlord appeared on that date, and the Justice dismissed the Case.

Mr. Secor applied to Judge McAdam, who granted a peremptory mandamus compelling the Justice to act, holding that Judge Murray had no right to dispute Secor's standing in court, as the tenant in question did not do so. The matter was then appealed to the General Term, which upheld Judge McAdam's action, and from there was taken up to the Appellate Court. Mr. Secor has filed a remitter in the dase with the ngures $235.40 upon the document and Justice Murray will not only have to pay this amount but extra costs for printage of the court of the court

IVES AND SAGE.

They Had a Deal in May, 1887, About Which They Fail to Agree.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Russell Sage has begun an action in the Supreme Court against Henry S. Ives, alias the "Napoleon of Finance," to cover $27,440, being the balance of a prom-ory note for $100,000, which Ives gave in May, 1887, to Sage for money loaned. Col-lateral security was put up with the note, which was sold and realized, according to Which was sold and realized, according to Mr. Sage, the value of the note, less $27,440. Ives denies this and says that the collateral securities which he put up with the note were worth fully $200,000 more than the note, and asked judgment for the amount against Mr. Sage. A motion by Mr. Sage for judgment in his favor on the answer was denied by Judge Patterson yesterday.

THE CAPTAIN-MANAGER TALKS PRAC-MIGAL AND THEORETICAL BASE BALL

aptain and Manager Oliver Tebeau and Cleveland Spiders arrived in the city this raing and will inaugurate a series of three es with the Browns this afternoon. With exception of Davis, his crack all around player, who was exchanged to New York for buck Ewing, and a few promising young altchers, which every club has this time of the year, Tebeau has the same aggregation won the championship first season of National League last year. Tebeau himof lasts season, while Buck wing has replaced Jack O'Connor in ght field. O'Connor is now one of the ib's catchers and he is putting up a strong me, both behind the bat and with the ck. Ewing has also been batting splen-dly, and, on the whole, the club does not les Davis as much as was predicted when beau traded him to New York. John Clarkson, one of the team's best pitchers, will not be with the club in this city, having oft for his home in Massachusetts a day o ago to attend the funeral of sister. Young, Cuppy and one Tebeau's younger twirlers will do pitching for the Spiders in this nity. Both Tebeau and O'Connormare natives of this city and a big delegation of their friends will welcome their first ap pearance in this city this season. O'Conno

Capt. Tebeau is very enthusiastic over his slub's chances of winning the pennant. He land club the very best from every stand-point in the League. "I would not make a change in the team for the best man in the change in the team for the best man in the country," said he. "Every member is working to my satisfaction and I must say I am well pleased. I think we will win the penhant, for we have the greatest aggregation of batters and fielders that could be secured. Boston and New York also have good clubs. I think the Boston the best, for the New Yorks are weak behind the bat. We are going to make a long, hard, concentrated fight, and if the pennant is not ours I will be sadly mistaken. All the men are pulling together for the interest of the club, and there is not a dissenting voice in the team. These reports to the effect that 'Buck' Ewing and I could not get along have all been wrong. There is not a finer ball-player than 'Buck' anywhere. He is playing his very best, and he and I are the warmest of friends. I do not order my men around like some managers, but if a man thinks he can make a good play he does it. I think being too severe is the worst fault a manager can have."

MADE IT THREE STRAIGHT. igainst his old colleagues yesterday and was even a rattling reception. The Browns went at him hammer and tongs and piled up best at him hammer and tongs and piled up base hits at will. The Chicagos seemed distartened by the superiority of their opponents and played a very yellow game of ball, the work of Anson, Dungan and Decker being particularly rank. For the home team Orwks, Werden and Brodle, as usual, led at the lat, while Dowd gave a magnificent exhibition of base running, making no less than fivering, with four stolen bases to his credit. The ham work of Quinn's men was excellent. The score: St. Louis, 14; Chicago, 2; Base ats—St. Louis, 17; Chicago, 8. Errors—St. Louis, 3; Chicago, 6.

Where the jockeys, betting and official re-ults come from is still a dark secret.

LOCAL TURF GOSSIP. Some one went down the line on Volunteer II. yesterday right before the third race was started and forced his price down from 7 and 6 to 5, to even money. Whether it was Mcstarted and forced his price down from 7 and 6 to 5, to even money. Whether it was McCafferty and Wishard's money that went in on the horse the bookmakers were unable to tell. All of them, however, concluded that if it was, old Volunteer would surely win. That portion of the "Chalkers" that were sure it was "Foxy" John and his partner's money that was being placed on their horse and refused to take only enough to round their books nicely, lost a chance to win heavily. Dr. Bernays, who owns the winner, Midway, says McCafferty informed him that he had $5,000 on his horse and would win sure. This was enough for Bernays and he placed a swell bet on Volunteer II. and only $10 against $25 on his own horse. After the race his horse was run up $500 and the doctor of course had to protect him. As it was, it just cost him $170 to win the race. McCafferty's ride on Volunteer II. did not suit quite a number of the knowing ones who had bets on the old campaigner.

Mark Elias tipped the second, third and last race one-two yesterday in addition to picking the winner in the first race and just turning the result of the fifth race around. That is, he picked Esperanza to win and Gov. Firer to run second.

Dan Lamasney has both Service and St. Pancras in the Street Railway stakes. He said yesterday that he thought he would start them both. Service has not been doing much work since he won the Inaugural. He will be worked out and prepared for Saturday's stake in the Owners' handicap; he starts in this afternoon.

Frank Joroan's feat yesterday of riding four winners makes a total for him of start East, in order to make the world journey complete by covering the distance between here and New York on their wheels. As their journey will be through a more civilized country than on the first half of their journey they were not rigged out for hardships, a mackintosh strapped to the front box being the only sign of a prolonged outdoor trip.

The intinerary of their journey, which they expect will occupy fully twenty days, will be from East St. Louis to Terre Haute, thence to Indianapolis, to Dayton, to Columbus, to Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore and New York. They expect to spend at least two months in the East.

On their arrival in New York they contemplate putting their experiences in crossing the Asiatic Continent in lecture form, which will be illustrated by stereopticon views for, like true Americans, they carried a kodac with them all through their perilous journey. All together they have several hundred views. "We thought of opening our lecture tour here at home," said Mr. Allen, "but on second thought agreed it would be best to try it on the dog. We hope to be platform experts by the time we get back to St. Louis."

Homer Casffield of the Pastime Cycling Club, W. R. Wright of the Cycling Club and Arnold Winkeler of Belleville accompanied them from the bridge as far as Collinsville.

CYCLE VS. CAMEL.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 11.—Abbass Sahr, one of the Bedouin chiefs of the Society Hamidie, that is to give exhibitions of life on the terday stood abstractedly gazing with admiring eyes at his pet camel. Abbass was miring eyes at his pet camel. Abbass was disturbed in his reverie by a reporter, who sought to question him on the speed he could get out of one of his dromedaries. A proposition was advanced that one of the dromedaries be matched against Chicago's best bicyclist. The shelk was assured that there were several bicycle riders in Chicago who could give his Damascus dromedary a hard tussle for a mile or two. The ludicrousness of a man on a bicycle being able to beat his pet dromedary was too much for Abbass and grew upon him until he had called up his fellow chiefs, Salim, Chaweech, Emir, Hamzie and Makmovid Oukwi and held a laughing concert. He said that his feetest animal would do a mile in a trife under three minutes, and received a severe pride wound by being told that his pet would have to be given a handicap of fifty yards. The prospect of winning, however, got the better of him and he signed articles of agreement for a mile race by electric light some evening in July.

ATHLETICS.

The second annual field day of the Western Intercollegiate Athletic Association will be the largest association of its kind in the country, and comprises the following colleges: Washington University, St. Louis; Purdue, Lafayette, Ind.; Rose Polytechnic, Terre Haute, Ind.; Iowa College, Grinell; University of Iowa, Lake Forest College. Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.; Illinois College, Jacksonville; Wesleyan University, Evanston, Ill., and the University of Illinois, Champaign, The following is a list of the events to be contested: 100-yard dash, half-mile run, 220-yard dash, I mile walk, 16-pound hammer, 2mile bicycle, 1-mile run, 120-yard dash. At present indications the weather will be favorable and an unusually large crowd will be on hand. be on hand.

The Washington University and Christian Brothers' College of this city expect to be heard from in the contests. A delegation of tengo from the Brothers and as many from the University. The athletes will leave tonight at 8 o'clock from the Relay Depot at East St. Louis.

WRESTLING.

Max Luttbeg says he will not go to Ne York for a few weeks, and will wrestle Mik Mooney any night and Baptiste the following evening. For Mooney, he will bar any ho evening. For Mooney, he will bar any hold and wrestle him at any style, and says the Pastime Club will give a purse of $300 to the winner. All that is asked of each contestant is a deposit of $50 to insure his appearance. Baptiste can get in a match at catch-as-catch-can, no holds barred, whatever he wants, and Luttbeg says he can weigh a ton if he likes.

McFadden can have any game he wants, and Luttbeg will concede him five pounds. Luttbeg wrestles at 135 pounds.

London, May 11.-Correspondents at Lemberg, the capital of Austrian Poland, and at Cracow, another leading city of Austrian Poland, were requested by telegraph to ascertain whether there was any foundation for the report that a decree had been issued by the Russian Government expelling the Hebrews from Poland. These correspond-Hebrews from Poland. These correspondents telegraph that any ukase expelling Jews from Poland is absolutely unknown to and has not been heard of by the Poles now in Lemberg and Cracow who have just arrived from Warsaw, the capital of Russian Poland. The Austrian authorities presumably would be wiling to spread any news of the kind prejudicial to the Russian Government. The correspondents in the dities named were permitted to send the facts exactly as within their knowledge. The Jewish authorities in London who keep thoroughly informed as to the condition af their fellow religionists in Russia, also deciare that no information has reached them in regard to any newly revealed decree affecting the Polish Hebrews.

Increased the Debt. MONTREAL, Quebec, May 11.—The share-colders of the Canadian Pacific Railroad Co., at their meeting yesterday authorized the issue of $6,000,000 preferred stock at 4 per issue of $6,000,000 preferred stock at 4 per cent in addition to the ordinary stock of the company now outstanding. The company has deposited $4,000,000 in the Bank of Montreal to meet any deficiency at any time in maintaining dividends at 5 per cent on ordinary stock. The old board of directors were re-elected, with the exception of Lord Mounts Stephen, who has retired. W. C. Van Horne was re-elected President and T. G. Shaughnessy, Vice-President.

THE Globe Shoe and Clothing Co. will close their establishment after May 15 at 6:30 p. m. except Saturdays.

Railroad Changes.

George J. Gould was elected President of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co.at a meeting of the Board of Directors held in New Xork. Immediately afterwards he approved the appointment of W. B. Doddridge as General appointment of W. B. Doddridge as General Manager of the Missouri Pacific system, the appointment having been made by C. G. Warner, Second Vice-President. Mr. Doddridge was the General Manager of the Cotton Belt Route for nearly five years, and through his efforts increased the gross earnings of that company from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 per annum. He is a practical railroad man of twenty-five years' experience and a friend of the Goulds.

First Vice-President Waldo of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway has sent in his resignation to take effect May 17. Differences of opinion between President Rowse and Waldo are said to have led to the resignation.

-that's the way with the imitations of Pearline. It isn't surprising that so great a household help in all washing and cleaning should be so largely imitated; it isn't / surprising that these imitations fail; and it isn't surprising that they make still more popular the article on which the fraud is attempted. Fair Warning. All this begins to-morrow. Bargains like these go quickly. Prevent dis-appointment by coming at once. Mail orders must come immethe race as an occupant of the grand stand.

The reason for the erection of the looking tox was the refusal of the Jocky Club to allow the Western Union to furnish descriptions and results of its races to the local pool rooms and their threat to so title them from the grounds if the body cotted rooms persisted in obtaining the results through them. When the Fair Ground people divined Ullman's scheme they hung out a wide stretch of canvas along the home stretch to shut off the sentry's view of the finish, but Mr. Ullman's little sentry box is all a billed. There are insuperable difficulties in the way of his furnishing jockeys, betting and correct results from his look of tower, all of which continue to ador all of wh convention by invitation, and urged them to come into the association, as the undertakers of the country needed their co-operation in educating the undertakers and to have a law passed requiring all undertakers in the State to be licensed. The Vice-President also urged that a united effort be made to have such a law passed, urging that an undertaker be placed in the same line with a physician and a pharmacist. In order to bring about the desired end it would be necessary to appoint a State Examining Board, whose duty it should be to examine in every branch of the business every person doing business as an undertaker.

At the conclusion of Mr. Hermes' remarks, routine business was taken up, which was not disposed of until 12 o'clock, When a recess was taken until 1:30 o'clock. The afternoon session was opened by the President's address.

The following delegates are in attendance; H. R. Brasfield, Union, Mo.; J. C. Henry, Neosho, Mo.; W. H. Bassett, Paris, Mo.; G. B. Hickman, Butler, Mo.; J. Martin, Lee's Summit, Mo.; Geo. J. COMMITTEES AT WORK.

Plans for the Broommakers' Organization The National Convention of Union Broom makers met at 9 o'clock this morning and immediately took a recess in order to give the various committees time to complete their work. There are four committees in session: The Committee on Constitution, the Committee on Br. Laws, the Committee on Resolutions and the Committee on Rituals. The ponvention will meet again at 2 o'clock this afternoon when it is expected that the committees will have finished the major portion of their work.

The question of apprentices, which has ever caused dissensions between capital and skilled labor, will be decided sometime tomorrow. As proposed by the Committee on By. Laws the International Union shall control and regulate the wages and term of all apprentices. The apprentices will probably be required to serve four years. During the first year they will receive 53 per week; during the second year 56 to 58, and during the third and fourth years wages in proportion to their proficiency but less than those received by a journeyman.

Anational label will be adopted for the propose of fightling, not only non-union made makers met at 9 o'clock this morning and ceived by a journeyman.

A national label will be adopted for the perpose of fighting, not only non-union made trooms, but those made by convict labor which are, it is asserted, successfully competing on a large scale with the brooms manufactured by free journeymen. The constitution will provide that no local union can declare a strike for any cause without first having submitted its grievances to and received permission from a board to be composed of the President, Vice-President and Secretary of the International Union.

The broom-makers of New Orleans are not represented, owing to the expense incurred by all organized labor in that city during the recent strike, which has prevented them from raising funds to pay the expenses of delegates.

AN INSANE FAMILY.

-One Attacks Suspect Hickey.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 11.-Two weeks ago Jeff Barthella, an Italian, who owns a farm at Center Ridge in Conway County. near Morrilton, suddenly became violently insane and jumped into a well and drowned himself. Barthella had a wife and several who lived on the farm with him. His suicide preyed upon the minds of the two brothers and both became violently insane and had to be arrested, and were locked up in the Mor-rilton jail. Yesterday they were allowed the rition jail. Yesterday they were allowed the privileges of the corridor of the jail, and after walking about for a while, John went into the cell occupied by Frank Hickey, the alleged murderer of John M. Clayton. At first he appeared rational, but while engaged in a friendly conversation with the prisoner from Butte City he suddenly sprang upon Hickey with the ferocity of a tiger. In his effort to escape from the cell Hickey fell to effort to escape from the cell Hickey fell to the floor. The madman jumped upon him and beat him severely upon the head, and sinking his teeth into his shoulder, bit out a piece of flesh about the size of a walnut. The greatest confusion prevailed for a few minutes which attracted the attention of the Sheriff and a number of persons at the Courthouse, a half block away, who hurried to the jail, reduced the lunatics to submission and locked them up in their cells.

On Monday J. Barthella, an employe in the Iron Mountain shops on the north side of the river, and a brother of the insane men, went to Center Ridge to look after the effects of the brother who had suicided. He immediately became insane and is now in a pitiable condition.

This morning Sheriff White of Conway County brought John and Alex Barthella to this city and placed them in the insane asylum.

INFATUATED WITH HARRIS. COMMANDER A. J. CRISS.

walted the moment of his release, when she expected that he would marry her. Her devotion to him was as great as his mother's and she is believed to be the "young woman dressed in deep mourning." who accompanied Carlyle Harris' cousin, E. M. Hill, "alias Edward Morrill," from New York to Albany and attended the funeral of the executed criminal, At, the Tombs, the girl called herself "Carrie Jones." That was not her real name.

Nina Van Zandt's mad marriage to August Spies, who was one of the condemned Chicago Anarchists, was not nearly as "peculiar" as Carrie Jones' infatuation for the convicted murderer. Mies Van Zandt was not promised in marriage to any other man when she fascinated the Anarchist leader, and married him in his cell beneath the very shadow of the gallows. Yet the girl who offered herself in marriage to Harris deliberately broke an engagement of marriage with a worthy and estimable young man in order to become the afflanced bride of a man who had been indicted for stealthly administering poison to his school girl wife, so that she died. Her only excuse was that in him she had found her affinity.

As nearly as anyone about the Tombs can remember the grussome love affair began some time early in December, 1891. Carrie Jones had visited the gloomy old prison with a band of young women and a few men who had volunteered to cheer the inmates by singing hymns to the accompaniment of a small organ. Miss Jones was apparently fascinated by the handsome, plausible, soft-volced young prisoner. She lingered longer than any of her companions, and Harris' protestations of innocence aroused her to enthusiasm in his behalf. She returned to the Tombs with the band of hymn-singers on the following Sunday. Somehow, with the help of that diplomacy which only women understand, she managed to enjoy ten minutes of conversation with Harris alone. Shrewd and clever as he was, it did not take him long to discover that she was infatuated with him. When she asked whether he would see her if she could ome some time before t they were still happy in each other's company.

Those who have seen the girl scores of times describe her as of more than medium height, siender form, medium complexion and raven-black hair, slightly but prematurely tinged with gray. Her age was somewhere between 28 and 27. She was intelectual without priggishness, and her manners were refined and charming. In the presence of Harris, however, all reserve foresock her. She seemed to forget all about the presence of strangers. "Carrie Jones" paid her last visit to Harris after Recorder Smythe had refused to grant him a new trial. Prison liscipline forbade his seeing any stranger fiter that, and, under the rules, "Missiones" was a stranger. Up to the last moment she never lost hope that Harris life workers in bringing forward new evidence to telephim to a new trial.

THE INDIAN LANDS.

What wonder that more Paine's celery compound is used in the United States than any other remedy Allotments in Severalty.

New York, May 11.—The question of open-ing the Indian lands to settlement promises to have a national agitation. Last night at the Waldorf Hotel the Indian Adjustment League was formed by an enthusiastic meet ing of reformers. Miss Emma Sickles, Chairman of the Indian Congress at the World's Fair, was elected President and Wm. Everett Hicks of New York City, Secretary. Miss Sickles is known as the "heroine of Pine Ridge," because of her courageous partici-pation in the Wounded Knee outbreak. Mr. Hicks was Secretary of the International Land Congress in Paris during the Exposition and is a newspaper man. He formerly lived in St. Louis. Letters of encouragement were received from Rev. John Hall, Henry George and others.

In opening the meeting Miss Sickles said that she knew the sentiment on the land question among twenty tribes and that the genuine Indians are against allotment in severalty. Any seeming compliance on their part, she declared, is due to misrepresentation or coercion. Two events of great importance to the Indian race, she said, are about to happen—one, the opening of the Cherokee Strip, the other the appointment of about to happen—one, the opening of the Cherokee Strip, the other the appointment of a commission to negotiate for the lands of the Cherokees. Choctaws, Chickasaws, Creeks and Seminoles. Miss Sickles said that the committee should be composed of unbiased men who are not wedded to severalty or any other plan, but can view the situation with candor.

Mir. Hicks said that every land opening is a vice and crime, a riot of land grabbers in which the interests of the real homeseeker are lost.

"The only way to solve the Indian land problem," he said, "is to have the lands plotted by a Government commission and disposed of by leases bases on value of land. The Cherokee Strip to be opened a few weeks hence, is to be "Oklahomized" or scrambled for, but we hope to change future populgs into an orderly selection of sites. It is sufficient condemnation of the severality plan that every land-grabber is heartily in favor of it, and that the opposition to any change in the severalty scheme may be traced to an immense ring of speculators."

Resolutions were adopted setting forth that the sentiment of all genuine Indians is against allotment in severalty; that previous land openings, with their murder, theft and rapine, have disgraced civilization; that these openings have simply transferred the Indian lands into the hands of the land speculators instead of the homeseekers, and that if the President appoint on the commission advocates of severalty, he will simply continue the old injustice to the Indians and whites. The resolutions call upon the President to appoint unblased men to the commission and to use the executive power to have future lands opened by operation of leases.

A committee will be sent to Washington and branches of the league will be estab-lished in every county.

THE WHISKY TRUST.

I'linois' Legislative Committee at Work on the Investigation. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 11.-Chairman Salo on placed J. B. Greenhut of Peorla, Presi dent of the Whisky Trust, on the stand yes terday, when the committee appointed by the illinois Legislature to investigate the

The statement of the trust which showed the amount of rebate vouchers outstanding Feb. 28, 1893, as $1,813,291.82 was taken up, and Mr. Greenhut said the money was kept in the general fund of the company. The President states that they considered a rebate voucher the same as a note payable in six months, and the company looked upon it as such.

bate voucher the same as a note payable in six months, and the company looked upon it as such.

"Is not the rebate given to force the consumer to buy of the trust and to make a monopoly?"

Mr. Greenhut answered that the consumer could buy where he pleased, but he would not get a rebate if he bought elsewhere.

The question of the price of trust stock was taken up and the President said the price had been put down by natural causes and the bear movement on the New York Stock Exchange which he believed was responsible for the investigation. As to the contribution of the trust to campaign funds the President said he personally had contributed, but refused to say how much or to divulge the amount of money allowed the secret fund or the disposition of the secret fund allowed him, stating that the matter was a private and not a public one.

Sam. Woolner, who purchased the four distilleries recently added to the trust, said he did so without any previous agreement with the trust, and was excused from answering the question about what agreement he had made with the former owners about not resuming business for five years.

August slevers, a wholesale liquor dealer of Chicago, stated that he was forced to buy from the trust because he could obtain what he wanted nowhere else. He believed that the trust controlled between 90 and 95 per cent of the output in the country.

The investigation will probably be concluded next week.

Judge Edmund, Will Not Accept the Fa miliar Plea of Other Engagements. "Jink" Hudson, a negro, was arraigned in assault to kill, made upon another colored man named Price McGinniss, on Sept. Il last. The prisoner had retained Attorney Ben Clark to defend his case, and claimed to have paid him 140 for so doing. When the case was called the attorney was not in court, and Judge Edmunds was informed that he was detained by the trial of a case in the Circuit Court. The Judge refused to accept this as an excuse and called upon Attorney Jeff Storts to impanel the jury to try the case. Meanwhile a Deputy Sheriff was dispatched to look up Mr. Clark and inform him that a criminal case in which he was retained should take precedence over any civil proceeding in which he was in-

SIXTEEN HUNDRED DELEGATES.

The Southern Baptist Convention to Convens at Nashville.

Nasuville, Tenn., May 11.—The Southern Baptist Convention, which is to assemble in annual session in this city to morrow, is the largest ecclesiastical body in the country possibly in the world. There will be over 1,600 accredited delegates in attendance.

A number of delegates are already here, and this morning the annual joint meeting of the American Baptist Educational Society and the Southern Baptist Educational Conference was held.

William B. Rothwell of William Jewell College of Missouri was elected president and Prof. Thomas Hume of the University of North Carolina was chosen secretary. A number of interesting papers were read on educational topics and the work of education undertaken by the Baptist Church. NASHVILLE, Tann., May 11.-The Southers

OFF THE TRACK.

Two Men Killed in a West Virginia Freight Wreck.

PAREMERCAO, W. Va., May 11.-A south bound freight train on the Ohio River rall-road went off the track at Walkers, twelve thirty-five feet.

Fire communicated with oil from the freight cars, burning five oil cars, caboose and two cars of general merchandise. Two men were killed, one being burned until unrecogniz-able. Another was fatally injured.

Religious Notes.

The Heary Shaw flower sermon, provided for in the will of the well-known philan-throphist, will be preached at Christ Church throphist, will be preached at Christ Church Cathectal, Thirteenth and Locust streets, by the Rt. Rev. Thomas U. Dudley, Bishop of Kentucky, next Sunday.

The annual choir festivel of the Episcopal churches of St. Louis city and county, took place at Christ's Church Cathedral, Thirteenth and Locust streets last night. There was a large and select audience, and the programme was well given. Mr. Paul More was organist and Prof. H. H. Darby director.

A special Cairo Short Line train brought in 800 excursionists from Carferville, Williamson County, Ill., yesterday afternoon. The proceeds of the excursion will go toward the erection of an M. E. Church at Carterville.

Rev. W. & Healy, C. S. Sp., will lecture at the Sacred Heart Church next Sunday and Monday evenings. His topic will be 'The Park Continent,' He will illustrate his remarks with stereopticon views.

-keeper John O' Nelll was in all sorts trouble to-day, with Detective Scully on his trail, and his friends coming around and explaining how glad they would be to explaining how gad they would be to see him at the rock pile. It seems that Joe Mulally went against a crap game somewhere in the neighborhood of O'Neill's basement, and after losing $20 went up and asked Assistant Chief Reedy to go and raid the game. Instead of this Detective Scully was put on the case, and with the aid of Mr. O'Neill's friends put him through a most searching cross questioning.

Kolbites in Convention.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 11.—The State Executive Committee of the Populists and Jeffersonian Democrats met here at 12 o'clock to-day in executive session. There are a number of sheriffs and probably judges who were elected last fall on the Kolb ticket, in attendance. Their cry is fraud, and Kolb ticket, will be their candidate next year. Resoulutions have been prepared calling for free coinage of silver and indorsing the anti-option bill.

Single Tex and Municipal Franchises. Mr. Louis F. Past of New York will lecture on "The Single Tax"! this evening, at Chats-worth Hall, corner Seventeenth and Olive streets. He will also devote some time to answering questions relating to municipal franchises. Admission free.

Wheat—To open like off and drop ise more almost immediately was the first act of this now eccentric market, but quickly railied and looked quite strong for awhite. Then turned very weak and ran down like, with barely a few halting periods en route for hard to get me that his high and to dear and the close was lagent below yesterday. There was a combined runh to sell at the opening on the Government perors, raiss in the West and weaker cables and more reassuring crop reports from Europe. It was the Government estimate of 75. 3 as the winter wheat's average, a drop of only 2 points, where a run on lower percentage had been looked sor, that did most the knocking down of prices, causing many longs to sell out and encouraging the bears to sell freely. The Cincinnati Frice Current's estimate of a 440,000,000 bu crop was a demoralizing factor, especially coming as it did upon the surprising Government average. None of the strength that marked yesterday's closing cables was seen in those that came in this morning, though only Liverpool reported lower, but some private cables gave a rather more encouraging yiew of the crop situation abroad, while a few others were still discouraging. There was good buying on the early decline, in this market, both for a reaction and bistories, but the sally would be morning, and when two bank failures were knowledd in Chicago and Indianapolis, domesticimarkees declined rapidly, with more long wheat forced out. The seabboard clearances were very good—55, 400 pkgs flour, 584,000 bu, but these had no special indianace. The only late cables received were from London and Liverpool and they were duil and unchanced for the former and duil and flad lower for the latter. It was a holiday in Antwerp, Berlin and Parls. Review of the Iron Trade.

CLEVELAND, C., May 11.—A further weakening in prices of beasemer pig and steel billist is reported from Pittaburg. From primary markets comes the information that raw iron continues weak in spite of good points in the statistical outlook. Ore sales are reported at a compromise figure, the large steel producers and the ore men meeting each other half way. Buyers have regarded the low prices of the past week as tempting enough to cover sheir needs for some time ahead and heavy purchases of beasemer pig and billets are reported in Pittaburg, much of it for Cleveland delivery through the year. Sellers are very careful about extending credit and there is a heattang about new construction planned for this spring that has had its affect upon the structural market. As we have remarked before the iron trade is in general wall fortified against shrinkage in value; there is no longer any room for shrinkage.

FRIEND ALL THE TIME! THE ONLY MCNICHOL

I've looked about both far and near
For one would prove a friend;
I've seen my purse and conddence
Both quickly come to end.
Those whom I trusted most I saw
Turn coldly from my lot;
And they for whom I'd done the most
Too soon had all forgot.

I found myself alone in town,
My family to keep;
And every soul I ried to find
Seemed at this time seleep.
I needed help and money bad;
A home for children dear;
A shelter for a leving wife—
It proved a sorry year!

At length I found an anchor sure, A friend whom I could trust; McNichol is his name in full, He's always fair and just; He sold me what I wanted most,

As he will help everybody who seeks.
